

I'm writing in hopes that when considering and building towers that effort will be put in regarding the environment, namely birds. We share the planet with many species of birds, and we have an obligation to take them into consideration. We've done, and are still doing, enough damage to our environment. It's time for a change.